CALL for Abstract/Paper*

- Nowadays, many universities adopt service-learning (S-L) in their curriculum, as it could address the three-pronged mission of universities, namely teaching, research, and service, that is, a mission adopted by various universities. S-L is also a progressive and innovative teaching strategy that has been used by universities and other (educational) institutions around the globe as a teaching pedagogy to help students prepare for the future by building stronger academic skills, fostering civic responsibility, and developing leadership skills in schools, organizations, communities, and beyond.
- This conference aims to convene leading S-L teachers, students, researchers, community partners, administrators, and educational policy makers to critically evaluate and illuminate the impacts of S-L and community engagement on students, faculty, and community partners and, most importantly, on the social, cultural, and economic issues they seek to transform.

- Conference Sub-themes:
 1. Engaging for change, changing for engagement.
 2. Building the world we dream about: innovative pedagogy in the field
 3. Designing public interest: bridging teaching, scholarship and research for S-L
 4. Navigating and negotiating S-L world: deeper collaboration and cooperation for better outcomes
 5. Other topics related to the conference theme

SURABAYA – The city of Heroes

Surabaya is a port city, second-largest and the capital of the province of East Java - Indonesia. It is located in the north eastern shore of Java at the mouth of the Mas River and along the edge of Madura Strait. To Indonesians, it is known as "the city of heroes" due to the importance of the Battle of Surabaya in galvanizing Indonesian and international support for Indonesian independence during the Indonesian National Revolution.

A vibrant, sprawling metropolis, it mixes modern skyscrapers with canals and buildings from its Dutch colonial past. It has a thriving Chinatown and an Arab Quarter whose Ampel Mosque dates to the 15th century.
