A Call to Transform Lives

Educational institutions are vested with the responsibility of transforming young lives by infusing meaningful learning and fostering wholesome living. True to the founders' vision, many colleges still focus on the whole person development. These colleges function with the objective of developing young people who will be intellectually engaged, morally upright, socially relevant, emotionally balanced and spiritually matured.

Strengthening Solidarity and Sensitivity

The pluralistic nature of Indian society accords a challenging role to the Chaplains. They are not only responsible for the spiritual development of Christian students but also for the spirituality of students of other faiths. The Chaplaincy should enable and equip students to transcend narrow religious boundaries and help them enter into spirituality by catering to the emotional needs of the students. In this context chaplains need to be sufficiently equipped so that he/she can play his or her role effectively in the spiritual development of the students.

Chaplaincy Academy is developed to address the needs of the chaplains in India. A training for Indian Chaplains is planned as pilot experience. An Asia-wide program can be developed to address the general development of chaplaincy in Asia in general.

The Online Course Content

Considering the various needs of the Indian colleges, it is felt that an online course would be an effective means to address the ongoing needs for chaplaincy training. Indian colleges are multi denominational and heterogeneous communities, rather than referring back to the traditional evangelical framework, it is important to cultivate a broad perspective for the understanding of the Bible, interpretation of the religious scriptures, learning about world religions, practicing contextual liturgies, cultivating empathetic counselling and awareness of mission history.

The following are the broad areas of training:

- Introduction to Christian Theology
 - Understanding the Bible
 - Understanding World Religion
 - Mission History
 - Holistic Counselling (Pastoral care)
 - Liturgy and Preaching
- United Board will meet the expense on accommodation, food, course material and course fee.
 - Accommodation will be provided on Lady Doak College campus for twin sharing.
 - Participants are expected to meet their own travel expense.
 - Application must be sent on or before 6 August 2018.

Lady Doak College, a premier Christian Institution and the first Women's College in Madurai, was the brainchild of Miss Katie Wilcox, an American missionary with a vision and fervour for the empowerment of women.
