

United Board Faculty Scholarship Program

2020-2021 Program Guidelines

Introduction

The United Board Faculty Scholarship Program supports junior faculty to pursue postgraduate degree studies at the master's or doctoral levels. United Board scholarships are designed for developing colleges and universities in the United Board network in Asia that need to upgrade their teaching faculty, have a plan for faculty development, and are committed to providing whole person education for their students. Over the last two decades, hundreds of young scholars have benefited from the program.

Candidates are required to study full-time in English-medium graduate degree programs based at United Board network institutions or approved institutions within the Asia-Pacific region but located outside of their home countries. A list of these universities and their English-medium degree programs can be found on the Faculty Scholarship Program webpage.

The United Board is prepared to contribute up to US$12,000 of scholarship support per scholar per year. Grantees showing satisfactory progress in their doctoral programs generally may renew their scholarships for a maximum of four years of support; master's level students may receive up to two years of support. Additional one-time support for field research (maximum US$ 800) and/or conference attendance (maximum US$ 500) related to a doctoral dissertation in the final year is possible, and a request should be submitted when applying for scholarship renewal.

United Board scholarships generally cover tuition, room and board, and a modest monthly allowance. In some cases, the host university will share costs with the United Board by waiving full or partial tuition costs. We encourage scholars and/or the home institutions to contribute additional funding.

The United Board will transfer scholarship funds to the host university, to be made available for disbursement to the scholars upon enrollment. The United Board Faculty Scholarship Program does not support expenses for spouses or family members.

Eligibility

United Board Faculty Scholarship candidates should:

- be currently employed full-time at an eligible college or university in the United Board network (please see the list on page 5);
- have a record of academic excellence, and show evidence of outstanding potential for professional advancement in teaching;
- be 40 years old or below at the time of application; alternatively, must have 15 years of service remaining before the official retirement age at the home institution;
- be committed to return to their home institutions after completion of the degree;
- have at least 2-3 years of teaching experience and service at their home institutions;
- be proficient in English (TOEFL/IELTS/GRE results may be required by some host institutions, and candidates must have their scores ready by the time of application).

Please note that this scholarship is open to candidates from all academic disciplines. Each institution can recommend up to three candidates for the scholarship every year.

Application Summary

The deadline for the scholarship application is October 15, 2019 for candidates seeking admissions for July/ August/September 2019 entry (January 2020 entry for the Macquarie University).

Applicants should research university websites for the programs; admission requirements; TOEFL, IELTS or GRE exams if required; and information on tuition and living costs, prior to applying for the United Board Faculty Scholarship. A list of United Board network institutions and approved institutions with English-medium degree programs can be found on the Faculty Scholarship Program webpage. Candidates should refer to the list when declaring choices of institutions and degree programs.

Applicants should first apply to the United Board with the completed online application dossier listed below. After evaluation, the United Board will refer eligible candidates to potential host universities. Candidates who have been referred to a university by the United Board should immediately follow the standard process to complete their application for admission. The United Board will share a copy of the candidate's United Board Faculty Scholarship Program Application dossier with the potential host university.

Based on the academic interests of the candidate and the needs of the home institution, the United Board may suggest degree programs or host institutions to the candidates. Scholarship recipients at the master's level may return for doctoral study at a later date. Field study components of the degree may be completed in the home country of the scholar if approved by the host institution, using United Board Faculty Scholarship funds for this purpose.

Applications sent directly to the university without, or prior to, United Board referral will not be considered for United Board scholarships. Applicants may indicate up to three choices of programs and institutions where they wish to study. If admission to the preferred program is not forthcoming, the United Board may suggest an alternative academic program. Only applicants who are offered admission by a host university will be awarded the United Board Faculty Scholarship.

Note that candidates planning to apply to universities in Hong Kong, Macau, Singapore, or Australia should research the list of faculty in the desired institutions and consult with them on the potential for dissertation supervision, prior to submitting an application to the United Board. Many faculty members would require a research proposal for review, and candidates should prepare in advance for this.*
